

BRAND GUIDELINES · VERSION 1.0

Examiner-led coaching, deserving of an examiner-grade brand.

A visual and verbal identity system for a premium, one-on-one A-Level coaching service — built on expertise, precision, and trust.

Positioning & Voice

For A-Level students who want to master their subjects and secure top university offers, The School Place provides personalized coaching from real Cambridge assessors — combining exam-board insider knowledge with one-on-one mentorship.

01	02	03	04
Expertise	Personalization	Results	Trust
Real Cambridge assessors, not generalist tutors.	One-on-one, tailored to the individual student.	Exam-focused, measurable grade improvement.	Calm, credible, parent-and-student-reassuring.

TRAIT	DO	DON'T
Authoritative	"Insight from examiners who set the papers"	"We're the BEST tutors ever!!"
Warm	"We'll work at your pace"	Cold, corporate jargon
Precise	Specific, exam-board-accurate language	Vague claims ("guaranteed A")
Confident	Calm certainty	Excessive exclamation points, ALL CAPS

Logo System

A custom monogram replaces the stock graduation-cap clip-art — built with the geometric precision of a mathematical instrument, legible at 24px, and ownable at a glance.

- — Minimum clear space equals the height of the monogram on all sides
- — Minimum digital size: 24px height — minimum print size: 15mm height
- — Never recolor outside the approved palette
- — Never stretch or distort proportions
- — Never place on busy photographic backgrounds without a solid contrast panel
- — Never recreate the wordmark in a different typeface

A Functional Palette

Every color has one job. Gold is reserved exclusively for calls-to-action and achievement moments — used everywhere, it stops meaning "act now."

Deep Navy — Primary

Headlines, logo, primary backgrounds. Signals authority and trust.

Academic Gold — Accent

Buttons, highlights, "book now" moments only.

Slate Blue — Support

Icons, subheads, secondary UI elements.

Off-White — Neutral

Backgrounds and negative space.

Type System

One display serif for gravitas, one clean grotesque sans for clarity. Never more than two typefaces — headlines always carry the serif, body copy always carries the sans.

A-Level Excellence Starts Here

Personalized Coaching, Examiner-Led

Body copy uses a clean, highly legible sans for paragraphs, lists, and interface text — ensuring the display serif is reserved for moments that deserve emphasis.

LABEL / CAPTION STYLE

H1 — Display	Lora, Semibold, 46px — hero headlines only
H2 — Display	Lora, Medium, 25px — section headers
Body	Liberation Sans / Inter, Regular, 10.5pt — paragraph copy
Labels	Sans, Bold, 9px, uppercase, tracked — icon labels, tags

One Unified System

Subject icons share one stroke weight, one corner radius, and one fill logic — no more mixing icon families across a single layout.

IT

- — Consistent 1.5px stroke weight across every icon
- — Single style throughout — all outline, or all filled, never mixed
- — Prioritize real tutor photography over stock illustration to build trust
- — If illustration is used, commission one custom style matching the palette
- — Avoid generic "laptop + stacked books + graduation cap" stock scenes

Applications & Rollout

Build templates once, reuse everywhere. This is the single biggest fix for long-term brand consistency.

- — Social media flyer / post template (Instagram, WhatsApp status)
- — Email signature
- — WhatsApp Business profile (icon-only logo)
- — Consultation booking one-pager
- — Certificate / results showcase template
- — Business card

Next Step

A designer translates the logo, color, and type direction in this guide into final logo files, a locked style sheet, and a working master template — so every future asset is built from approved components rather than recreated from scratch.
